Choir Anthem Lyrics

Offertory Anthem – My Shepherd You Supply My Need

My Shepherd, will supply my need: Jehovah is His name.
In pastures fresh, He makes me feed beside the living stream.
He brings my wand'ring spirit back when I forsake His ways.
He leads me, for His mercy's sake, in paths of truth and grace.

When through the shades of death I walk, His presence is my stay.
One word of His supporting grace drives all my fears away.
His hand in sight of all my foes, doeth still my table spread
My cup with blessings overflows, His oil anoints my head.

The sure provisions of my God attend me all my days.
Oh, may Thy house be my abode, and all my work be praise.
There would I find a settled rest, while others go and come.
No more a stranger, nor a guest, but like a child at home.

Canticle of Praise – Since By Man Came Death

Since by man came death,
By man came also the resurrection from the dead.
For as in Adam all died,
Even so in Christ shall all be made alive.

Good Shepherd Sunday:

This weekend we celebrate the Fourth Sunday of Easter. This Sunday is commonly referred to as "Good Shepherd Sunday" since the Gospel reading, John 10:11-18, is about the shepherd who lays down his life for his sheep, just as Jesus did for us. And, because of the theme of Good Shepherd Sunday, we observe the Annual World Day of Prayer for Vocations.

Steubenville Conference Registration:

The April 30 registration deadline for the 2024 Steubenville Conference is approaching fast. Rising 9th graders through graduating seniors will have the opportunity to spend the weekend growing in relationship with the Lord and one another. I personally benefitted from this conference when I was in high school and I am happy to share the opportunity with our youth. Find a link to more information on the conference on Page 10 of this bulletin.

Our Sunday Offering:

I want to sincerely thank the very many who regularly give of their time, talent, and financial support to our parish. WeShare Online Giving is a secure, and convenient platform. Just text stpaulohio to 800-950-9952 or go online to www.stpacc.org/donate. If you have any questions about your parish offertory or WeShare Online Giving, please contact Parish Accountant Deb Hawking at either dhawking@stpacc.org or 614-882-2109 ext. 229. Thank you!

Sincerely in Christ,

Fr. Wilson

THE CATECHETICAL CORNER

Some Change is a Good Thing!

I am a big fan of Halloween, but not for the reasons you might think. Sure, I love to ransack my kids' candy bags (I need those Kit-Kats), but I love Halloween because it finally begins to feel like Fall. I love the colder weather, the leaves dying and falling, the time change, etc. (I know, I'm weird). Like anything in this world, there are positives and negatives. Take candy, for example; Kit-Kats are proof that God exists, and candy corn is proof that Satan exists.

Nevertheless, the things I do not like about Halloween are the dark, magical, superstitious items. Did you know that the popular phrase hocus pocus is a distortion and an evil bend on the words of Consecration at Mass? When the priest prays the words of Consecration in Latin, he says, "hoc est enim corpus meum, "this is my body." Hoc est corpus easily sounds like hocus pocus, equating the Mass to magic. However, a significant difference exists between a magician pulling a rabbit out of a hat and ordinary bread and wine changing into the Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity of Jesus Christ. What is this difference?

To answer this question, we must discuss a long word you may have read or heard in Catholic school, CCD/PSR, or Mass. It is Transubstantiation. This doctrine, central to our faith, teaches us that during the celebration of the Mass, the bread and wine truly become the Body and Blood of our Lord Jesus Christ while retaining the appearance or accidents of bread and wine.

Transubstantiation is not a concept easily grasped by human reason alone. It is a mystery that requires faith, humility, and reverence. When we approach the altar to receive the Eucharist, we are not merely partaking in a symbolic ritual; rather, we are encountering the real presence of Christ himself. It is a moment of profound intimacy with our Savior, who offers himself to us in the form of bread and wine. Items that we can comprehend.

In the Gospel according to John, Jesus declares, "I am the bread of life. Whoever comes to me will never be hungry, and whoever believes in me will never be thirsty" (John 6:35). Through the miracle of Transubstantiation, Christ fulfills this promise by nourishing us with his very self. Just as physical food sustains our bodies, the Eucharist nourishes our souls, strengthening us for the journey of faith and deepening our union with God and one another.

During the Protestant Reformation in the 1500s, the doctrine of Transubstantiation became a matter of much controversy. Martin Luther, champion of the Reformation, called it "pseudo-philosophy" in reference to the Church's use of Aristotle's theory of substance and accidents. Luther said the Consecration is not a personal union (Transubstantiation) but a sacramental union. Through his teachings of this sacramental union, the theory of "consubstantiation" emerged in different Protestant sects. To combat this, the Council of Trent declared Transubstantiation as a dogma of the faith. Interestingly, in explaining this dogma, the Council Fathers were careful not to use Aristotle's terminology of substance and accidents, which Luther spoke out against. Instead, the Fathers used the word "species," which we still use today.

However, if we break down the two words in question, we have Transubstantiation, trans-substance, a changing of the substance. The bread and wine change into the Body and Blood of Christ. Next, we have consubstantiation, con-substance, with or alongside of the substance. Consubstantiation leads one to believe that the Body and Blood of Christ is only present during the church service, so there is no need to reserve the Blessed Sacrament. Due to our Protestant brethren's views, their churches do not have tabernacles as Catholic Churches do. Catholics believe that the Body and Blood of Christ is present, due to this change, until the Host is consumed, which is why we reserve the Blessed Sacrament in a tabernacle.

I know this dogma is difficult, unlike choosing Kit-Kats over candy corn, which is very easy. This dogma is a mystery that requires faith—faith that Christ will give us what we need. Just as the Israelites received Manna from heaven, we receive our Lord and Savior's Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity. As we approach the altar to receive the Eucharist, let us do so with hearts full of faith and gratitude. Let us approach this sacred banquet with humility and reverence, recognizing the incomparable gift we will receive. Let us also remember that, in receiving the Body and Blood of Christ, we are called to be transformed, become more like him in our words and deeds, and bear witness to his love in the world.

May the mystery of Transubstantiation deepen our faith, strengthen our communion with Christ and his Church, and inspire us to live as faithful disciples daily. May we always treasure the gift of the Eucharist and approach it with hearts full of reverence and love.

Andrew T. Burson

Andrew T. Burson, Director of Parish Ministry

Welcome to St. Paul

We are pleased to announce the appointment of Stephen Smith as the new Director of Sacred Music at St. Paul. Stephen will succeed John Bryan. In this role, Stephen will be responsible for sacred music at all St. Paul liturgies, overseeing the cantors and choirs and implementing magisterial documents on sacred music. Our Sacred Music department, which has flourished under John Bryan's dedicated leadership for many decades, will continue to thrive. John is not going far as he will remain a part of our St. Paul School. Originally from Tiffin, Stephen studied organ performance at Heidelberg University before attending Indiana University Jacobs School of Music, where he received his Master's degree. After directing music in different churches, he was appointed the Director of Sacred Music at St. Joan of Arc Church in Powell.

Most recently, Stephen was the music director at the Pontifical North American College at the Vatican. In this position, he played for daily Masses and Liturgy of the Hours for the seminarians. Other roles included preparing and directing the seminary choir for two Diaconate Ordinations and one Priesthood Ordination at the Altar of the Chair in St. Peter's Basilica. He provided vocal coaching for the Deacons responsible for chanting at Papal Masses. He also led all aspects of the planning and execution of sacred music for Masses celebrated by many Bishops, Archbishops, and Cardinals in St. Peter's Basilica.

Stephen and his wife, Elizabeth, have a daughter, Briella, another child on the way. Please join us in welcoming Stephen to our parish staff as he and John work together to effect a smooth transition over the coming months.

Reflecting on the Gospel for the Fourth Sunday of Easter, April 21, 2024

First Reading: Acts 4:8-12; Second Reading: 1 John 3:1-2; Gospel: John 10:11-18

Today, on the Fourth Sunday of Easter, we celebrate Good Shepherd Sunday. It is a day when we reflect upon the tender image of Jesus as the Shepherd of us all. It is also a day set aside to pray for more shepherds within our Church who will shepherd God's flock with the Heart of Christ.

Our Gospel passage comes from John 10 which, in part, is a commentary on the previous chapter that includes the long and detailed story of the healing of the blind man. Recall that Jesus healed this man who was blind from birth. He did this healing "so that the works of God might be made visible through him." As a result of this man's healing, the Pharisees cast the blind man out of the synagogue, not believing that Jesus' healing was from God. After the man was cast out of the synagogue, Jesus spoke with him again and he professed his deep faith in Jesus, the true Shepherd. The healed blind man said, "I do believe, Lord." Then he worshiped Jesus. Thus, the greater healing of this man was that he became a member of God's flock, accepting Jesus as his true Shepherd.

Our Gospel today is Jesus' commentary upon the actions of the Pharisees in contrast to His own. The Pharisees, as religious leaders, were not shepherds. They were "thieves and robbers" who came to "steal and slaughter and destroy." Jesus, however, came so that those who listened to His voice "might have life and have it more abundantly."

The Gospel passage quoted above explains why the Pharisees were not true shepherds. It was because they "work for pay" and have "no concern for the sheep." Think about that statement as it applies to the Pharisees and their treatment of this man who was blind from birth. First of all, the "pay" that these Pharisees worked for was their own self importance—a fleeting and worldly reward. They saw themselves as the true teachers and interpreters of the Law and saw anyone who did not follow them as a threat. The Pharisees clearly perceived Jesus as such a threat to them. For that reason, they took their envy out on this humble and simple blind man.

They were not shepherds to him. They did not encourage him, support him, point him to God or act in any way as an instrument of God's grace. Instead, they condemned this innocent and holy man out of their pride.

Though God shepherds us today through His sacred pastors, we are all called to participate in this shepherding of the Good Shepherd in our own unique way. We are called to lead those within our families, at work, at school, within our neighborhoods, social circles and in every other societal context. But too often we imitate these Pharisees by allowing our own selfishness and desire for self importance to interfere with our ability to put others first and love them with the Shepherd's heart.

Reflect, today, upon the calling you have received to lay down your life for others in imitation of the Good Shepherd. In order to imitate this love in the Heart of Christ, we must love without seeking love in return. Laying our lives down is an act of sacrificial love that enables us to look only at the needs of those around us. Pride and selfishness must disappear, and the good of the other must become our only goal. Reflect upon how well you do this, and pray that the Good Shepherd will use you to shepherd those in your life who need it the most.

Divine Shepherd, You came to lay down Your life for us all so that we might have life and have it to the fullest. Like the blind man You cured, I profess my belief in You and worship You. Help me to receive and imitate Your love so that I will lay my life down for others, leading them to You, their holy Shepherd. Jesus, my Good Shepherd, I trust in You.
